6. [REDACTED] LIAISON Called Representative Daniel Flood (D., Pa.) to tell him that we had talked with Charles Snodgrass, House Appropriations Defense Subcommittee staff, about the workmans compensation type payments made to disabled participants in the Bay of Pigs or survivors of such persons and that if he (Flood) had any questions about this program, which is a very complicated one, we would be happy to meet with him. Mr. Flood was extremely pressed for time and asked that I check with Henry Neil, Staff Assistant, House Appropriations Subcommittee on Labor, Health, Education and Welfare, to be sure he was informed. I told the Congressman that we had briefed Neil on this subject and later found that this was not the case. (See [REDACTED] follow-up item on this.)

8. [REDACTED] LIAISON Called Danny Childs, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence staff, to check with him on procedural aspects of the Select Committee's authorization process. Childs said that a classified letter would be going to the Senate Appropriations Committee this afternoon with copies to the other intelligence oversight committees and to the DCI. In response to my question, Childs said that the open budget issue will not be taken up as part of the Committee's action in reporting an authorization bill to the full Senate. This issue will be raised at a later time. Consequently, there will be no dollar figure in the Committee's report or bill.

38. [REDACTED] LIAISON Jerry Levinson, Senate Foreign Relations Committee staff, called saying that Larry Raych, Department of State, had told him that [REDACTED] OER, had indicated the Agency was about to come out with a new study on Saudi Arabian oil and that we would be willing to brief the Committee on the study. After checking with [REDACTED] Congressional Support Staff, I told Levinson that no such study was in the mill and that there must have been some misunderstanding but that we could brief Levinson on the subject anyway if he so desired. He asked that we brief him and Ira Nordlicht, Senate Foreign Relations Committee staff. The briefing will be on Wednesday, May 18, at 2:00 p.m., in [REDACTED] Office of Economic Research, office.
